Bio – Philip M. Butera

Philip M. Butera grew up in Buffalo, NY, earned a BS degree From Gannon College in Erie, PA, served in the US Navy then received an MA in Psychology from Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, Canada. He has published four books of poetry, "Mirror Images and Shards of Glass," "Dark Images at Sea," "I Never Finished Loving You," and "Falls from Grace, Favor and High Places." His crime novel, "Caught Between," has been published, and his second novel, "Art and Mystery: The Missing Poe Manuscript" is now available.

Seven Story Rabbit audiobooks, Jacol Publishing, and Philip have scripted his novel "Caught Between" into a Podcast radio series that will air on EatSleepWrite.org. He is a contributing editor for EatSleepWrite.org Philip won full scholarships to the 2017 Palm Beach Poetry Festival, 2017 Creative Capital Workshops, and the 2018 Creative Capital Advanced Workshop. He also has a column in the quarterly magazine Per Niente.

The Cultural Council of Palm Beach premiered his play, "The Apparition," and exhibited his poetry in their main gallery. The Artists Guild Gallery/Boca Raton Museum of Art also presented "The Apparition," as did Art BoxSt of St. Augustine, Fl. Philip was involved with PoetFest 2022, St. Augustine, presenting scenes from the Apparition.

Philip Butera is a founding member of Creative Circles Podcasts. He is currently working with a photographer from Britain and an artist from Paris to produce a themed coffee table book about women. He lives in Boynton Beach, Florida, and is on Facebook.

Sam Alessi—professor @ Canisius University ~~~~~~

Wishing much success.

If I could, I'd be the first one at the door for the opening.
